

News

-  The Watercress Company's Tom Amery joins the debate!
-  Pam Lloyd to speak at South West conference
-  Branding a future for the South East

Documents

 27th September 2011

The Watercress Company's Tom Amery is the latest to sign up to the FPJ Conferences - South West event and will join a string of professionals throughout the supply chain in addressing the challenges the region faces and bringing about change.

Amery, whose company operates in both Dorset and Hampshire, will take look at making the most of provenance and improving traceability.

Held at The Grand, Bristol, on 3 November, the conference will run from 10am until 4pm and delegates will hear from the likes of Pam Lloyd of Pam Lloyd PR, Elior's fresh produce buyer Sandy Anderson, NFU's Sarah Pettitt, QV Foods' Simon Martin and Riverford Organics. To register go to www.fpjconferences.com