

TWC Watercress now in Harrods!

Our watercress has been featured by the world's most famous department store - Harrods, as part of its Festival of British Food, running until the 3rd October.

The Festival, which celebrates the best of British home grown produce, features a range of food and drink from the growers/farmers across the UK recommended by celebrity chef Valentine Warner.

As a result of its popularity during the 2 weeks we are hoping bags of green watercress will be permanently stocked by Harrods in its Food Hall.

Customers and the press have shown great interest in our other products, particularly our red watercress variety "Old flame".
